

Mr. Hidenori Furuta

Corporate Executive Officer

Executive Vice President

Head of Global Delivery

Hidenori Furuta is Corporate Executive Officer Executive Vice President, Vice Head of Global Services Integration Business, and Head of Global Delivery Group at Fujitsu. He drives Fujitsu's vision of Human Centric Innovation that delivers new business and social value to enable a more prosperous and sustainable future. Fujitsu is supporting its partners and customers to make this happen by creating new connections – between people, information and technology.

In his Global Delivery role, Hidenori is leading faster standardization of global solutions and services, promoting best practice, and delivering value and growth potential to customers. Global Delivery shapes and standardizes services via Fujitsu's Business Application Service and Managed Infrastructure Service teams, and then introduces them to customers in Fujitsu's international regions utilizing the capabilities of the Global Delivery Centers, which support over 40 different languages in 70 countries around the world.

Hidenori joined Fujitsu in 1982, beginning his career as a systems engineer and gaining much of his early experience with customers from the major oil and chemical companies. He more recently managed global systems integration and services projects for electronic manufacturing customers.

Hidenori holds a Bachelor degree from the Faculty of Engineering, Department of Industrial Chemistry, Meiji University, Japan.

He is married with two children.
